OFFICE ORDER

The University is in the receipt of the Judgement of the High Court of Delhi in the case of W.P. (C) 11289 / 2016 & CM NO. 44188 / 2016 - Gursheen Ahuja & Ors versus Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University & Ors. The students (petitioners) admitted in the academic year 2015-16 and are not promoted to the third semester under the University Ordinance 11, are hereby allowed to appear in the internal examinations of the first semester. The judgement says:

"The respondent institutes / colleges are directed to allow the petitioners, who had not appeared in the internal examinations of the first semester, to appear for the internal examination of the first semester. This opportunity to appear be given to the petitioners after the Final End Semester examination of the first semester is over."

The fee, paid by the students (petitioners) for the third semester, in which the University, in the interest of the students, permitted them to attend classes of third semester (under provisional admission), in this respect, the judgement says that:

"In so far as the fee paid by the petitioners for the third semester is concerned, the respondents shall be liable to refund the same or at the option of the petitioners adjust the same for the subsequent semester / year in which the petitioners take regular admission."

As per the Judgement, the University allows all such students who were admitted in the academic year 2015-16, and did not appear in the first semester internal examinations due to the provisional admission to third semester, to appear in the internal examinations of the first semester, in consonance with the relevant clauses of the University Ordinance(s) and the decision of the Hon'ble Court. The students are also allowed either to apply for the refund of fee or adjust the fee, paid by the students, in the subsequent semester / year in which the petitioners shall be regularly admitted and the institution wherein the students are admitted shall process the applications.
