1. Overview

Raunak, the Ethnic Day celebration, was held on 16th March 2026 in the Seminar Hall under the presidency of Yash Sharma. More than 100 participants came together in their ethnic wear for an afternoon of music, dance and games.

There was no scoring and no winners. The aim was simple: bring everyone together, celebrate culture and have a lot of fun.

2. Objectives

- Celebrate Indian culture and ethnic wear in a relaxed, joyful setting.
- Get students from different groups to mix and take part together.
- Give participants a stage to perform, sing and play without the pressure of competition.

3. Activities

Dance. Performances lit up the stage, with dancers in bright ethnic outfits and the crowd cheering them on.

Guess the Song. A music game that had the whole hall humming, guessing and shouting out answers.

Pass the Balloon. A fast, funny group game where the balloon went around the hall with the music, and the energy rose with every round.

Singing Competition. Participants took the mic and sang for the audience. Although it was called a competition, no winners were declared; the focus stayed on taking part.

4. Highlights

- A turnout of 100+ participants in the Seminar Hall.
- A festive stage with black and gold balloons and a hand-made Raunak banner.
- A relaxed, no-pressure format that kept everyone involved from start to finish.

5. Conclusion

Raunak was a warm and lively celebration of ethnic day. With dance, music games and singing, and no winners to worry about, participants simply enjoyed themselves and each other's company. The event was led by President Yash Sharma and his team, and thanks go to everyone who performed, played and attended.
