2. Introduction

Code Synthesis Hackathon was an offline hackathon organised by the Code Geeks Society of GTBIT on 13 September 2025. GDG on Campus USAR was a partner in the event.

The hackathon gave students a platform to build, collaborate and put their technical skills to practical use within a fixed time, and strengthened the working relationship between the student communities of the two institutions.

3. Objectives

- To give students hands-on experience of building technology solutions in a time-bound, competitive setting.
- To encourage teamwork, innovation and problem solving among students.

- To build collaboration between student communities of different institutions.
- To support the technical culture on campus through partnership with GDG on Campus USAR.

4. Event Description

Code Synthesis Hackathon was held in person at GTBIT on 13 September 2025. The event was organised by the Code Geeks Society, with GDG on Campus USAR supporting it as a partner.

5. Conclusion

Code Synthesis Hackathon gave students an opportunity to work on practical problems and to practise building and presenting solutions within a limited time. The partnership added to the technical activities conducted by GDG on Campus USAR during the academic year.
